

BEER SALES IN ROADHOUSES OF
STATE ALLOWED

The Legislature Fails To Pass Regulatory Act This Week

Road houses in Lee county, several owners of which have been conferring with county officials, face a strange situation with the advent of the arrival of beer after 12:01 in the morning. Some of the road house operators who have sought licenses in spite of the $200 county fee, are without state and county permits with which to sell the new beverage. Some, it was reported today have secured their federal permits and are anxiously awaiting the state and county licenses.

State's Attorney Edward Jones spent yesterday in Springfield and investigated the malt and wine permits, to find that none were available until the law was passed in its finality. Because of this fact, Lee county is without authority to license road houses outside of incorporated cities and villages and as conditions now stand outside of Dixon, there is no state law enforceable, according to State's Attorney Jones.

Unauthoritatively, it appeared that the road house proprietor who has secured a federal permit may be entitled to sell beer and wine after 12:01 Friday morning provided that the alcoholic content does not exceed 3.2.

FAIL TO PASS BILL

Springfield, Ill., April 6—(AP)—Dixie's lineup of vets and dyes in the lower house of the state Assembly Illinois will enter the legislative 32 beer era tomorrow with the state exercising no licensing nor regulatory powers.

The final defeat of the measure came last night after a hectic day during which administration leaders had fought vainly to push the measure through to enactment.

An afternoon roll call resulted in a vote of 74 to 56 for the bill which would place a $100 state license fee on dispensers. The result left the measure three short of enactment as a regular bill and 28 votes shy of the necessary emergency clause to make it effective immediately.

Called back for a night session the opposition, the wet element of which argued that the license fee would make impossible the return of the five-cent glass of beer, almost broke even with the adherents, the vote being 58 to 52 for the Governor's measure.

Issue Kept Alive

However, the measure was kept alive as recess was taken before the roll was completed. Results of a second night roll call were not announced as a motion for adjournment interrupted it. However results were substantially the same with the bill being badly beaten.

Turning to a consideration of the House last night in a test vote of 94 to 14 emphatically indicated its disapproval of the proposal to reduce salaries of Supreme Court Justices from $15,000 to $12,000 annually.

Pass Economy Bills

In the Senate yesterday economy bills were enacted and sent to Governor Horner. They provided for reduction of the state Pardon Board from ten to seven members, the Tax Commission from five to three and the Commerce Commission from seven to five members.

Also approved was the much-contested and once vetoed measure requiring the dropping of a silver nitrate solution in the eyes of infants at birth as a preventative of blindness. Former Governor Emmerson vetoed it when it was sent to him two years ago.

More intensive work was ordered today for the Illinois Senate as a short session ended another legislative week.

Upon motion by Senator Richey V. Graham of Cicero, majority leader, the upper house adjourned until 10 A. M. Tuesday, rather than scheduling the customary perfunctory meeting in late afternoon with no attempt at activity that day.

Graham announced the executive committee had decided upon full session on Tuesdays during the remainder of the 58th General Assembly.

House In Recess

The lower house, which worked late last night before Democratic leaders gave up attempts to pass the Horner bill for regulation of the sale of legal beer, took no action today, convening and adjourning perfunctorily.

The Senate passed to the House the Ward bill to provide that no public administrators should be allowed fees from the estates of war veterans consisting of money due from government compensation.

TWO IMPORTANT
CASES DECIDED
BY JUDGE LEECH

Executor Amboy Estate
Is Held Liable For Transferred Fund

Judge Leech in the County Court yesterday afternoon handed down two important decisions in cases which have been the subject of heated litigation. In the estate of Catherine McConnell Wesley, deceased, of Amboy, Attorney Thomas E. Gill of Rockford appeared for Bishop Edward F. Hoban of Rockford and Rev. Robert C. Troy of St. Patrick's Catholic church of Amboy in an action brought against John J. Cole of Amboy, executor of the estate of Mrs. Wesley.

The petition to the court set forth that at the time of the appointment of John J. Cole of Amboy as executor of the estate of the deceased, there was on deposit in the First National Bank of Amboy, which institution was used by the deceased during her lifetime, the sum of $9,950.00 and $4,000.00 in Liberty bonds. The executor was appointed in January 1931, and serving in this capacity on April 2, 1931, the bill alleges that he withdrew from the First National Bank of Amboy the sum of $4,000 which he deposited in the Amboy State bank in the name of John J. Cole, executor of the estate of Catherine McConnell Wesley, deceased.

Holds Cole Liable

The executor made the deposit with the instruction that the sum was not subject to check but payable to order of "self," the bill further states. The petition cites cases and urges that the executor be held liable for the loss of the money through the closing of the Amboy State bank on December 11, 1931.

Judge Leech ruled that the executor was liable for the loss incurred in effecting the transfer of the sum from one bank to the other and by placing funds by certificate of deposit in the bank in question. Attorney William Kehoe of Amboy appeared for the executor of the estate.

Another important opinion handed down by Judge Leech yesterday afternoon concerned an action in the county court brought by the People, ex. rel. Sterling D. Schrock, et al vs Jasper Risley, et al. The action interested about 80 residents of the vicinity of Lee Center who objected to a tax levied against the high school district. Objections were cited to the method of collection of certain taxes amounting to $15,625 due to the loss of a certain tax certificate, or its misplacement. The complaint set forth that a second copy was filed and by such action questioned the levy as being determined on the original or copy. In the opinion handed down by Judge Leech, the objection to the tax was sustained.

During August, 1931, a school election was held at Lee Center, for the purpose of creating a new high school district, and for the issuance of bonds for the construction of a new school building, which was destroyed by fire. Voters in the district decided in favor of creating a high school district, but voted 204 to 176 against issuance of bonds to construct a new school house.

Malt Construction

The newly-elected board, which is named in a quo warranto suit pending in the Lee County Circuit court, requiring the board members to show cause why they are exercising the powers and authorities of a board of education, levied a building and educational tax following the election. Work was started on the new building but was held up pending the outcome of the objectors' suit.

Attorneys for the objectors, during the numerous court hearings on the matter, contended that the board was without jurisdiction to levy the tax charging that the board of education was without legal existence and therefore without authority to levy the tax.

They also contended that the part of the tax levy for building purposes was unlawful and void, because no election was held authorizing the board of education to build a school house, and that in the election held, the proposition to issue building bonds was defeated.

Little Tax Collected

Only a very small part of the 1931 tax was collected here by County Treasurer Sterling D. Schrock, and the Lee Center board is at the present time out of funds. School is being held in a residence at Lee Center.

As a result of Judge Leech's decision, the tax levied for 1931 cannot be collected by the board. The 1932 tax, which was recently extended here by County Clerk Fred Dimick, will also be objected to on the same grounds it was stated.

Attorneys for the school board did not state today whether or not

TREE PLANTERS
REPORT: ORDER
NOT RECEIVED

600 Idle New Yorkers Disappointed At
Army Office

BULLETIN
Washington, April 6—(AP)—More than 600 men who presented themselves at New York Army headquarters this morning for enrollment in reforestation camps, were sent to the office of the department of labor for certification only to be told there that "no instructions have been received."

TOO MANY PROJECTS

Washington, April 6—(AP)—Over abundance of potential work projects for the "conservation corps" appeared today when more than 100 men representing states met to sort out those regarded as the most necessary.

They divided into groups to select sectional plans for the most desirable projects on state and privately-owned lands, to supplement work in national forests and parks being charted by the federal government in preparation for the arrival of the first workers on forest jobs in two weeks.

W. Frank Persons, in charge of enrollment of the men for the Department of Labor, told the group that besides young men from 18 to 25 being enrolled in cities, the employment plan contemplates selection later of men living in forest areas who are experienced woodsmen and in need of work.

On Public Lands

At the outset, the reforestation will be generally confined to publicly-owned land, it was explained, the President being represented as feeling extension of the work to private forest tracts should be avoided at first.

This initial work, instead of being aimed at control of soil erosion or the planting of trees, is to be more of an expansion of insect and fire control, now carried on jointly by the states and the federal government.

Exception to this general policy of confining the program to public lands was made, however, in the case of certain insect-control, where the battle against bugs must be carried into private timber land.

On the other hand, the state foresters were told that the bluster rust fight, in which a large number of men are used, annually, would be conducted only on public land.

IN CHICAGO AREA

Chicago, April 6—(AP)—War-time Army camps, long idle, are being prepared today to receive the first contingents of President Roosevelt's "peacetime army" of jobs.

Plans for two weeks of physical conditioning of 4,000 unemployed Chicago men were made at Fort Sheridan on the northern outskirts of the city.

Sixth Corps Area announced he had received orders from the War Department to start action on the program under which 250,000 men will be put to work throughout the nation at reforestation.

Seven thousand men from Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and parts of other states will be under the direction of Major General Parker. He said 600 men from St. Louis would go to Jefferson Barracks, 2,200 from Detroit to Camp Custer, and a total of 4,600 from Chicago and Milwaukee to Fort Sheridan.

Selection of recruits was placed in the hands of agents for the Department of Labor. Selections from applicants were being made today.

School Election

Hours Announced

The president and two members of the Board of Education of school district No. 70 of Dixon, are to be re-elected at the regular election Saturday between the hours of 12 noon and 7 P. M., at the south central school building which will be the only polling place. O. F. Goeke is a candidate for re-election as president of the board with F. K. Tribou and Frank J. Robinson as members of the board to be elected for three year terms.

NorthWestern Not

In Receivership

Chicago, April 6—(AP)—Rumors that receivership under the new federal act was contemplated by the Chicago & NorthWestern Railroad were vigorously denied by Samuel H. Cady, Vice President and General Counsel of the road. He said the rumors originated in Wall Street after a large block of the company's stock was sold on the New York Exchange.

Official Inquiry Into
Akron Disaster Begins
At Lakehurst Monday

Three Survivors Of Executive Officer's Tragedy Greeted
By President

BULLETIN
Washington, April 6—(AP)—Secretary Swanson, in a formal order today to the Court of Inquiry which will investigate the loss of the airship Akron, instructed that it give its opinion "as to whether any offenses had been committed or serious blame incurred" in the loss of the ship.

New York, April 6—(AP)—Third District Naval headquarters announced today that an unidentified Coast Guard patrol boat had reported finding a second large oil slick and "oil bubbling to the surface" in the Atlantic ocean at a point two and one-half miles west of Barnegat Lightship.

The Navy tug Kalmia was proceeding to the scene to investigate, it was said. The Kalmia had previously been ordered to the vicinity of the disaster to await instructions regarding possible salvage of the wreck of the dirigible Akron.

Macon Will Take

To Air Next Week

Akron, O., April 6—(AP)—The U. S. S. Macon, sister ship of the ill-fated Akron, will make her maiden flight next week, officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation said today.

The ship, built for the Navy, will be ready for her first flight Monday, but whether she will be flown depends on both the weather and the condition of the field. Goodyear officials said a definite date probably would be set after a study of weather forecasts tomorrow.

Capt. A. H. Dresel, skipper of the Macon, said he was ready to order the Macon up early next week and that he had received no instructions from Washington changing these plans.

BOARD NAMED

Washington, April 6—(AP)—The Navy today substituted the name of Commander Sydney M. Kraus, manager of the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, for that of Garland Fulton, lighter-than-air expert of the Navy, as a member of the Court of Inquiry to convene at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station Monday to investigate the disaster to the airship Akron.

Fulton's name was withdrawn, naval officials said, because of the impending tests on the airship Macon, which he will supervise and which would be interfered with if the inquiry court sits for a considerable period.

The court will be presided over by Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, Commandant of the Washington, D. C., Navy Yard, who was substituted for Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps, New York Naval District Commandant, due to the latter's illness, and its other member will be Captain Harry E. Shoemaker, Commander of the Sunnyvale, California, air station.

"Oil Slick" Found

Discovery of a large "oil slick," or spot of oil on the ocean 22 miles southwest of Barnegat Light, was reported to the Navy by the Coast Guard station at Cape May, New Jersey.

The location of the oil was approximately the same where the body of Lieutenant Commander Harold E. MacClellan of Westerly, Rhode Island, was retrieved and naval officers said they considered the finding of the oil "more significant than anything turned up yet" by searching vessels.

They said the oil spot might indicate one or more of the engines of the Akron had been carried that far by the super-structure of the ship and sank there.

Preparations for this exhaustive investigation—the results of which probably will go far toward determining the nation's future lighter-than-air craft policy—went forward today as the three survivors of the tragedy worked on a formal written report for Secretary Swanson.

Search Goes On

The three—Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley and Richard E. Deal and Moody E. Erwin, enlisted men—gave their stories verbally to Swanson and Admiral William V. Pratt, Chief of Naval Operations, at the Navy Department yesterday afternoon.

Later Pratt ordered the court of inquiry to be convened and directed that the search for any possible survivor still drifting on the ocean be continued until "there can be no thread of hope." Drugging operations to bring up any wreckage that may throw light on the cause of the smallest in many terms.

Bruehl, South Dixon; Leo Bulfer, Sublette; Frank Bresson, Viola; John H. Grove, Willow Creek; Albert M. Carnahan, Wyoming.

Judge Harry Edwards of this city will preside during the term, the docket for which is one of the smallest in many terms.

Wheat Mounts To

60 Cents Per Bu.

Chicago, April 6—(AP)—Wheat sold at 60 cents a bushel today. In a wild orgy of trading which saw men fighting for places in the pit, wheat prices soared about 2 cents a bushel to the highest prices paid here in many months. The September delivery rose to a peak of 60½ cents with others not far behind. A single car of No. 2 red wheat sold in the cash market for 63 cents a bushel, highest price since March, 1932. All grains surged sharply higher.

SQUALL STRUCK
FISHING FLEET:
ELEVEN KILLED

Sudden Storm Took
Toll From Salmon
Fishermen

Hoquiam, Wash., April 6—(AP)—Wreckage of numerous small fishing boats scattered along the beach today marked the path of a sudden spring squall which took the lives of at least 11 fishermen on the treacherous Grays Harbor bar.

The storm struck with savage fury late yesterday afternoon into the midst of the salmon trolling fleet as it was putting to sea. Watchers saw seven of the little craft capsize, hurling their crews into the water.

About 50 of the fleet, made up of 100 boats in all, made their way across the bar successfully, while the others turned back to Westport, their base.

Late last night the bodies of two men were washed ashore. Neither was immediately identified.

Fishermen whose boats had survived the stormy waters told of having seen others of the fleet capsized and their crews tossed into the turbulent waters. Rescue work was nearly impossible, they said.

The fleet had put to sea under favorable weather conditions but by the time the bar was reached the waters, which are frequently navigated by large ships with difficulty, were being churned by the sudden squall.

Policeman Is Held

On Perjury Charge

Chicago, Apr. 6—(AP)—A police officer was under bond on a charge of perjury and was without his star today because he refused to point to Frank Nitti, alleged "enforcer" of the Capone gang, in a court room as the man who shot him during a police raid.

The officer was Sergeant Harry Lang, principal prosecution witness in the trial of Nitti, charged with attempt to kill Lang.

Immediately after his testimony in which he declared from the witness stand that he did not know who shot him Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty asked Lang's arrest and he was later released on $2,000 bond. Dougherty said that it was upon Lang's testimony that Nitti had shot him that the grand jury had returned the indictment against the alleged gangster.

The raid was staged several months ago in a loop skyscraper and resulted in the wounding of both Lang and Nitti.

Effort To Force

Vote On Con-Con

In June Failure

Springfield, Ill., April 6—(AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to consider a petition designed to require that a referendum be held June 5 on whether the Illinois Constitution should be rewritten at a state convention.

The Citizens Association of Chicago failed in its first attempt to force the Secretary of State to place the question on the ballots during the June 5 judicial election.

The legislature has ordered a constitutional referendum, but the Attorney General has ruled that it cannot be held until the next general election in November, 1934.

Diphtheria Rate

In Illinois Low

Springfield, Ill., April 6—(AP)—In fighting diphtheria and typhoid fever, Illinois' rate of improvement have been almost twice that of the nation at large, Dr. Frank J. Jirka, State Health Director, announced today.

"Diphtheria prevalence," Jirka said, "has averaged only 45 per cent of what it was last year in Illinois, while in the United States it averaged 65 per cent. Typhoid fever prevalence has averaged 41 per cent in Illinois and 70 per cent in the United States."

Liner Loosened

Self From Reef

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Apr. 6—(AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Unalga at 8:45 A. M., radioed the base here the Spanish liner Marques de Comillas had worked itself free from the coral reef near Carysfort Light on which it grounded Tuesday night.

The radio said the vessel pulled from the reef at 6:30 A. M., and continued on its original course for Havana two hours later. The Marques carried 194 passengers, a crew of 165, and a cargo of wines and preserves.

Carysfort Light is about 40 miles south of Miami.

Wheat Mounts To

60 Cents Per Bu.

Chicago, April 6—(AP)—Wheat sold at 60 cents a bushel today. In a wild orgy of trading which saw men fighting for places in the pit, wheat prices soared about 2 cents a bushel to the highest prices paid here in many months. MARCHERS TURN
TOWARD HOMES;
EIGHTEEN HELD

Their Defiance Of Officers Overcome By Tear Gas Bombs

Ottawa, Ill., April 6—(AP)—Eleven hundred unemployment relief demonstrators enroute to the state Capitol at Springfield were turned back today by a barrage of tear gas.

Eighteen of the demonstrators—including Karl Lockner of Chicago, chairman of the Unemployed Council—were arrested after a battle in a quarrel of mud on a tourist camping ground where they had spent the night.

Authorities said some of the unemployed attempted to fight back with clubs and rocks. None was injured seriously.

Seventy-five state police under Sergeant James Vickery of Princeton and about 50 deputies directed by Sheriff E. J. Weller cooperated in stopping the motordade of about 150 automobile and trucks in which the weary demonstrators had spent about 24 hours.

Start Home In Groups

They were started back toward their homes at Chicago and Rockford in small groups. Sheriffs in all counties along the way agreed to supervise their return. Convoys of Highway Police accompanied groups.

Among the 18 arrested was a young woman who was said by police to have participated in a near riot at Gov. Henry Horner's office in Springfield several weeks ago.

The motordade got under way in Chicago early yesterday with about 600 participants, nearly as many more having joined them before they reached Ottawa.

They travelled most of the way through a downpour of rain and were halted by state highway police and Sheriff Weller at Twin Hickory camp 11 miles from Ottawa last night. They were allowed to spend the night in the camp on a promise from Lockner that there would be no demonstration.

Sheriff Weller arrived at the camp early today and informed them they would not be allowed to proceed. He gave them two hours to get underway, but only a few began attempting to push their automobiles and trucks out of the mud in preparation to leave.

Lockner was said by Weller to have defied the order, and the Sheriff attempted to arrest him. Weller said he slipped in the mud during a scuffle and that Lockner escaped into the ranks of the men, women and children demonstrators.

"We gave them another opportunity to leave peacefully," Weller said, "but they refused. We then used between 20 and 25 tear gas bombs to break the camp."

As the bombs burst, the demonstrators ran in every direction. Some of them fell and others stumbled over them. A number of them fled a short distance down the highway, but returned when the police began assisting their companions—wary from hours in the rain and some of them ill from the gas—to leave the camp.

Gasoline Provided

for the automobiles which had an insufficient amount for the return trip. About a score of demonstrators aided by highway police were required to push each of the cars and trucks out of the mud.

The camping ground consisted on an area of clay ground with a filling station as its only building. Highway police insisted that they spend the night there because the motordade had blocked the highway for about a mile.

Lockner had announced they wished to demand from the Governor that unemployment relief be increased and cash substituted for supplies that the state provide unemployed insurance, and that a moratorium be declared on mortgage foreclosures on farms and homes.

STOPPED AT PANAMA
Pana, Ill., April 6—(AP)—Blocked by Sheriff's deputies and guard troops, a caravan of "hunger marchers" were turned back in southern Christian county today without demonstration

CHICAGO PUPILS CONTINUE THEIR WALKOUT TODAY

13,000 Students Striking In Effort To Get Teachers Pay

Chicago, April 6.—(AP)—Thousands of Chicago high school students defied police squads today and walked from their classes with threats not to return until payment of teachers' salaries.

In several schools teachers commanded and pleaded with the students to halt. Principals stood in corridors and at exits, but the students disregarded them.

Authorities said the strike appeared to be of about the same proportions as yesterday when 13,000 students went out. Many of the original strikers were back in school, and authorities said they were spreading strike propaganda.

Police squads were kept busy driving strikers away from schools to which the walkout had not spread.

Some of the banners bore sarcastic references to the promise last night of Odville J. Taylor, president of the Board of Education, that the teachers would be paid $1,700,000 in cash and that tax anticipation warrants would be made available for them.

Teachers Combat II

Superintendent of Schools Wm. J. Bogan arrived back from the state capital at Springfield after a conference with Gov. Henry Horner and announced teachers in all schools were combatting the strike. He said strike leaders would be arrested on charges of interfering with the schools.

At two of the city's largest high schools, students gathered on the grounds but refused to enter the buildings even after police squads had arrived.

Principals of several schools said handbills fomenting the big strike had been distributed among students. Five thousand students walked out of Austin high school and the large institution was closed down.

Principal Wilbur H. Wright addressed them at a mass meeting, but promptly at 10 A. M. they marched out of the building.

Army Day Being Celebrated Today

Chicago, April 6.—(AP)—High ranking officers of all branches of the Army were celebrating Army Day, hard at work on a simulated battle in the headquarters of the Sixth Corps Area here today.

Under the command of Major General Frank Parker, Commander of the Sixth Corps Area, which comprises Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, higher ranking officers of the National Guard and the officers reserve corps were toiling over a map problem shoulder to shoulder with regular Army officers. The command posts of a field army were set up and operated as if troops were actually in the field.

Following the problem, the officers will attend a big Army Day banquet tonight to which the Governors of the three states, Henry Horner of Illinois, Albert G. Schmedeman of Wisconsin and William A. Comstock of Michigan, were invited.

Horner will be the principal speaker. Regular Army officers were here from St. Louis, Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee. Major General Roy D. Keehn of the Illinois National Guard and Major General Guy M. Wilson, Commanding the National Guard of Wisconsin and Michigan, were present with their staffs.

"The airship, however, was drifting away from me rapidly," he added, "and at about 500 yards distance I could see the ship entirely on the water, broken in two or three places, submerged about one third of her diameter with the bow for a length of about 200 feet inclined in the air at an angle of about 30 degrees he said. "I gave up trying to reach the ship and looking around sighted lights of what I took to be a surface vessel and a highhouse.

"I saw several men in the water and heard their cries. None was close to me."

THREE STATES IN BATTLE TO CONTROL WATER

Two Drownings Toll Of Flood In Eastern Oklahoma

Memphis, Tenn., Apr. 6.—(AP)—Three states today quickened their fight against floods after general rains over valleys already soaked and overrun with backwaters.

The threat centered in central and eastern Oklahoma, where there were two deaths by drowning; the delta country of northwest Mississippi, where the Tallahatchie and Yazoo rivers are spilling water; and in eastern Arkansas in backwaters of the Mississippi river.

Frank Lillie, 62, and Reuben, 20, his son, drowned yesterday while attempting to row across the swollen Cimarron river near Cushing, Okla., and a refinery dam burst under strain at Drumright, Okla., sweeping away 50 small houses.

Heavy rains through the mid-section of the lower Mississippi valley last night caused the closest watch to be kept on the well-cultivated Mississippi river levees and inundated further inundation from the backwater in Tallahatchie county, Miss., where the Tallahatchie broke through in the big flood of a year ago.

Hundreds of persons have been forced to leave their homes in the lowlands of the three states as the waters approached.

BRITISH PRESS NOT ENTHUSED OVER PREMIER

MacDonald's Proposed Visit To U. S. Is Criticized

BULLETIN

Washington, April 6.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain today was formally invited to visit President Roosevelt in Washington to talk over world problems.

London, April 6.—(AP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald's projected 6,000-mile trip for only a few days' talk with President Roosevelt stirred no enthusiasm in the British press today.

Present plans call for his departure April 15 accompanied by his daughter, Isabel, and three treasury officials. He must return soon as Parliament reassembles ten days later.

The Daily Telegraph warned its readers not to set their expectations too high in hoping that the Premier will achieve an amicable understanding between Great Britain and the United States.

"Let him remember his attempt is a hazard and a hazard of a kind which may be repeated once too often," it added.

The New Chronicle said it believed MacDonald deserved credit for the "courage of going alone."

"His talent lies in the creation of an atmosphere rather than constructive detail and in the present case atmosphere is almost everything," it said.

Purses Of Derby Race Is Reduced

Chicago, April 6.—(AP)—Purses of two of America's most famous three-year-old turf specialists, the Preakness and American Derby, have been trimmed from $50,000 to $25,000 this year.

The Preakness Stakes prize was cut more than a month ago. The American Derby, the blue ribbon event of the Washington Park season, Chicago, was reduced yesterday as the American Turf Association opened a slashing campaign of purses.

Of the three other big three-year-old events for 1933, two, the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes in New York, have not been trimmed from the $50,000 figure. No announcement has been made as to the size of the Arlington Classic, richest of all three-year-old stakes, which is run at Arlington Park, Chicago. Those close to the Arlington management say a cut will be made but will not make a guess as to how much.

No stake dates were set but the American Derby is expected to be run on June 3 or 10.

Three Survivors Greeted By President

disaster also were ordered.

As plans were laid today for separate probes by congressional committees, the bodies of Lieutenant Commander MacLellan and Lieutenant Commander David E. Cummings, Commander of the blimp J-3 which crashed at Beach Haven, N. J., came here for burial in Arlington cemetery.

WRECKAGE FOUND

Lakehurst, N. J., April 6.—(AP)—The cruiser Portland reported to the Naval Air Station today the finding of additional wreckage from the U. S. S. Akron, which sank in the ocean off Barnegat Light, Tuesday morning with a loss of 73 lives.

A message from Lieut. Commander James L. Fisher, mooring officer of the air station, who is aboard the Portland, reported the finding of wood fragments, a life raft and a radio tube. The search for bodies of the 71 missing crew members, was without success.

Lieut. Commander Fisher's report to the station by radio follows:

Search vessels have picked up empty gas tank, spare radio transmitting power tube intact in its shipping crate, life raft from airplane compartment of the Akron, some wood fragments, apparently from Akron, bumper bag from J-3. All articles being assembled on board Portland. Will be returned to Lakehurst for investigation."

Inquiry Starts Monday

Broad powers of a general court martial will be in the hands of the court of inquiry which begins on Monday in a search for the facts concerning the crash.

The court will hear three members acting both as judge and jury can subpoena witnesses and those who testify before it do so under oath. In that respect, it differs from a board of investigation, which may or may not require its witnesses to testify under oath.

The three survivors of the Akron disaster—Lieut. Commander Herbert V. Wiley, and Enlisted Men Richard E. Deal and Moody E. Erwin—will be called as witnesses by the court. If there is evidence tending to incriminate them, the court will certify that they are in the role of defendants.

Wiley May Sit In

From an authoritative source here it was learned Lieutenant Commander Wiley may request the outset that he be designated a defendant. He has that privilege and by such official designation, he would be able to sit in at all sessions of the court.

After the evidence is completed the court will deliberate in the same manner as a civil jury and then will make its decision, which may be accompanied by recommendations and directions for action.

May Be Long Inquiry

It is considered likely the inquiry will be a lengthy one. Whether it will be public will be decided by the president of the court.

In addition to the three members of the court of inquiry, the personnel includes a Judge Advocate.

EARL BIGGERS, FAMOUS WRITER, DEAD IN CALIF.

Creator Of "Charlie Chan," Victim Of Heart Disease

Pasadena, Calif., April 6.—(AP)—Earl Derr Biggers, creator of Charlie Chan, a Chinese detective who captured the imagination of readers of fiction, is dead, a victim of heart disease.

Biggers, author of "Behind That Curtain," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Black Camel," and numerous other novels, was stricken a week ago at Palm Springs, near here. He died yesterday at a Pasadena hospital.

He wrote in an obscure downtown office but his work was among the best known of modern novelists.

Biggers was born in Warren, Ohio, August 24, 1884. He attended Harvard University and as a student sold short stories to magazines. A year after his graduation in 1907 he joined the editorial staff of the Boston Traveler, first conducting a humorous column and later becoming a dramatic critic. In addition to his novels, Biggers wrote plays.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday.

Kidnaping Attempt Fatal To Victims

Feldkirch, Austria, April 6.—(AP)—Six men arrested at Goetz last night freely admitted today that they attempted to kidnap the Jewish Rotter brothers, formerly Berlin's leading theatrical producers and transport them to Germany for trial.

Alfred Rotter and his wife were killed in the attempt, reportedly jumping over a cliff to escape abduction, and the former's brother Fritz and a woman were injured.

The confessed kidnapers contended their act was "a patriotic duty." The attempt was made in the principality of Lichtenstein where the Rotter brothers fled last year after the collapse of their theatrical enterprises.

He supported the move to have the public construction bill include a naval building program.

A number of other bills were advanced on the legislative calendar.

Cut Supervisors

Announcement was made that Governor Horner, who is in Chicago today to attend Army Day ceremonies, had signed a bill to cut the pay of county supervisors to $4 from $5 a day, and provide that they receive not more than one day's pay for any one day, regardless of the number of committee meetings attended. Supervisors have been able to attend several meetings a day, drawing full pay for each.

A House committee of five was named to investigate mortgage bonds, foreclosure expenses, activities and fees of receivers and attorneys, methods of selling real estate and activities of bondholders' committees.

RIVER RISING

Rock river showed a rise of one-tenth of a foot from midnight last night until noon today it was reported at the offices of the I. N. C. Company this afternoon. With a steady stage of water, the river made no change until midnight when the water began to rise. A similar rise was noted at Oregon. Indications early this afternoon were to the effect that the stage of water was expected to recede rapidly if there are no further local rains. The local showers were blamed for the increased stage during the last 12 hours. At Freeport, the I. N. C. Company offices reported a drop of between five and six feet in the stage of the Peconia river since Sunday. This treacherous stream which was out of its banks in many places had resumed a normal flow.

WHO HATH A BOOK

WHO hath a book hath friends at hand,

And gold and gear at his command.

And rich estates, if he but look,

Are held by him who hath a book.

Who hath a book may fight or sing

Or ride or rule—do anything.

And he may dwell in humble hut

Or palace, ere the book is shut.

Who hath a book hath but to read

And he may be a king indeed.

His kingdom is his inglenook—
All this is his who hath a book.
Who hath a book should thank the Lord.

Because he may a book afford;
And in his prayer this clause is due
Lord, bless the men who write books, too—

Vallees Announce End Of Romance

New York, April 6—(AP)—Rudy Vallee and his brunette wife, the former Fay Webb of the movies, say their romance has come to a positive end.

Announcing last night through Vallee's attorney that they would separate at once, they indicated they have not decided about a divorce.

"If by any chance there is to be a divorce—and I'm not saying there will be one—proceedings will be started in my native state of California," said Mrs. Vallee. "I'm going to remain in California the rest of my life, I think."

After a family conference, Vallee's attorney announced the crooner and his wife had "definitely

RECOVERY MUST BE WORLD-WIDE.

The things which are attracting the most attention at Washington these days are the spectacular developments in domestic policy—the banking measures, the farm relief proposals, the work relief projects and so on.

But in the long run the most important steps may be those to which we aren't paying a great deal of attention right now—the preparations for long, patient and involved negotiations with other nations which have as their goal the restoration of international confidence, world trade and general prosperity.

It is well known that the administration is making elaborate plans for this work. But the subjects to be covered are so complicated, so far removed from the obvious bread-and-butter requirements of the moment, so difficult, in fact, for the ordinary citizen to comprehend, that most of us have paid very little attention to them.

Yet whether prosperity is to return to us may easily depend, in the last analysis, on our government's foreign policy rather than on its domestic policy.

Whether the depression came chiefly because of things that happened in America, or whether it was caused by developments overseas, one thing is pretty certain; we can't get full prosperity back again unless all nations have a share in it.

The world has grown so small in the last generation that there is no longer any such thing as complete economic independence. We live too close to our neighbors; sickness in one house is very apt to mean sickness in every other house—especially so since our ideas of economic sanitation are of the sketchiest and no such things as an adequate quarantine is possible.

And in the long run, whether we like it or not, we must admit that prosperity has to be pretty much a world-wide affair. The measures proposed at Washington for setting our own house in order are vitally important, of course; but unless international trade, international credit and international confidence can be restored we aren't likely to come to the end of our troubles.

SHOULD WOMEN BE HANGED?

Arizona's state board of pardons and paroles has refused to recommend clemency for Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted murderess, and unless new court action proves more effective than anything her lawyers have tried heretofore the young woman must be hanged on April 21.

And this brings up again the old question: is it proper public policy to send women to the gallows?

Under our modern ideas of sex equality, there is little that can logically be said against it. Equal rights bring equal responsibilities; if women are to enjoy the same status as men they must face the same penalties for their transgressions. The time when the mere fact of a woman's sex could win a mitigation of her punishment seems to be past.

Yet the spectacle of a woman going to the gallows is not a pretty one. Is it simply a holdover of out-moded sentimentalism that makes some of us feel that it is wrong?

A PRACTICAL MEMORIAL.

One of the most suitable war memorial schemes yet propounded seems to be the one suggested by a group of conservationists in the United States and Canada, who are urging that a 10,000,000-acre international forest along the international boundary be dedicated in memory of American and Canadian soldiers of the World War.

To begin with, there is something peculiarly suitable about using a forest as a memorial to war heroes. A forest is ever living, growing, green and peaceful; it aptly symbolizes our faith that those who gave their lives in battle did not sacrifice themselves to lasting darkness but simply went on, heroically, to a new life and a new growth.

Secondly—to come down to a more matter-of-fact sphere—neither the United States nor Canada has more forests than it needs. Almost any pretext that will preserve 10,000,000 acres of forest land is worth considering. This one, which so neatly combines sentiment and practicality, is especially attractive.

COUNTRY SIDEWALKS.

A committee of the Kansas state Senate is considering a bill which would require all pedestrians on country highways to carry red lanterns at night or suffer the consequences of traffic accidents without redress.

The man who has to walk along a country road at night is often in a pretty dangerous spot. It is extremely hard for drivers to see him; it is hard for him to avoid being confused by the gleaming headlights of passing cars. But instead of forcing him to lug a lantern about with him, it might be smarter to consider building sidewalks along all main highways.

We long ago discovered that people couldn't be made to walk in the street in a city. Now that traffic on the rural highways is so heavy, the same rule might apply there. A sidewalk along a main road in the country would save a good many lives in the course of a few years.

If women feel free to consume bootleg liquor in private, I can think of no logical reason why they should not consume legalized whisky in public.—Fred A. Simonsen, president, National Restaurant Association.

We have no air corps. We have a small auxiliary to the army and navy. We have no force to attack vital centers.—Grig. Gen. William Mitchell, U. S. A., retired.

The capitalism of tomorrow will provide an increased security physical, social and financial.—Dr. S. Howard Patterson, economist, University of Pennsylvania.

Song writers undoubtedly will be influenced by the return of beer and beer gardens.—Irving Berlin, song writer.

Your people are not happy enough to live without alcohol.—George Bernard Shaw.

What we really need is peace for the soul.—Prof. Adolph A. Berle, Columbia University.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tynmites all started out quite willingly to look about and try to find the Midget Man. "Let's separate," said one.

"If we all go together, we will waste much time, it seems to me. Let's hurry, now. Instead of walking, I think we should run."

Then Duncy said, "I guess that I will wait right here. I'll call, and try to make our old friend hear me. If he does he will appear."

Then, as he flopped upon the ground, wee Duncy slowly looked around and said, "I see the running you're objecting to, I hear."

"Why, sure," cried Coppy. "We know him. He never seems to be in trim when there is something to be done. He'll loaf right there, at ease."

"But come, the rest of us can hike around and go where ever we like. I guess I'll do my searching back among the big, tall trees."

And so the lads ran here and there. Their little voices filled the air. However, it did them no good to call the Midget Man.

They searched for about an hour or so. Then one said, "Well, we had better go right back and join wee Duncy. We have done all that we can."

While they were gone, wee Duncy found some little tracks along the ground. They made him rather curious. He trailed them for a spell. You can imagine his surprise when, suddenly, his little eyes discovered the Midget Man.

The others heard him yell. "Come here! Come here! I have found our friend! On me you always can depend." The other Tynmites rushed up, as surprised as they could be.

They found the Midget Man was tied up to a tree. He smiled and sighed. "Some of the midget monkeys played this crazy trick on me."

(The Midget Man takes the Tynmites to his home in the next story.)

RECAPTURE ACT REPEAL ASKED OF SENATORS

Hurts Railroads Member Of I. C. C. Informs Senate

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Repeal of the recapture clause of the Transportation Act, a part of the Roosevelt program for rehabilitation of the railroads, was recommended to the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today by Joseph B. Eastman, an Interstate Commerce Commissioner.

Eastman said the Commission felt the roads should be entitled to build themselves up in prosperous times to carry them through depression years.

Under the recapture clause, excess profits of the carriers are taken by the government to build up a fund to help weak roads.

"In our opinion and we believe the opinion of the country," Eastman said, "the clause is based on the unsound and unworkable theory that earnings of the roads could be kept stable by moving rates up and down."

"Experience has shown that earnings are chiefly based on traffic, which is responsive to economic conditions."

"The result is that in times of depression we are asked to raise rates and in prosperous times to lower them, which is contrary to economic principles."

He testified that amounts paid in under the recapture clause on March 15, together with interest, amounted to $13,124,000.

Cases involving $126,000,000 were in the process of preparation, he added, and it was estimated at the end of 1931 that the total due from the carriers was $342,000,000.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

This lesson brings us into the very heart of the relationship of the early disciples to Jesus of Nazareth, and in this way enforces for us the teaching concerning modern discipleship and our relation to the Master.

As Jesus went forth with his disciples into the villages, He inquired of them the effect of their teaching upon the people to whom they had been sent, and what the people were saying concerning Him. The reply was that some supposed that he was John the Baptist restored to life, while others thought that he was a reincarnation of Elijah, or of one of the prophets. To the question, "Who say ye that I am?" Peter, ever ready and impulsive, replied, "Thou art the Christ."

Meaning, apparently, by that that he saw in Jesus the fulfillment of the prophecies of the coming of

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Slowly, and on the part of some, rather surely, the new members of the House are venturing out into the open and making themselves heard in debates on the floor of the house. The debuts of some have been rather amateurish, but rarely apologetic. Time was when a new member made his maiden speech on the floor, he prefaced it with a statement that he realized he was new to the congressional way but that he hoped the members would bear with him for he felt he must express himself.

Most of the newcomers have shown little of that so far. They have jumped in with an air of confidence that they can clear the hurdle with ease.

For example, in the midst of debate the other day, one of them arose, addressed the speaker, and without waiting for recognition started for the well of the house. "For what purpose does the gentleman rise?" asked the speaker. By this time the gentleman was in the well. He turned around to the speaker and with a look of surprise, replied:

"Why, er—to debate."

And he seemed a bit nonplussed when the speaker required him to explain just what he wanted to debate.

GOOD DELIVERY— Perhaps the freshman representative who has made one of the best impressions on the house so far is the young, tousle-haired gentleman, whose Illinois district takes in territory that Abraham Lincoln once represented.

His name is Everett Dirksen of

Urge U. S. Aid for German Jews

Uncle Sam's intervention to halt mistreatment of Jews in Germany was asked by this delegation of Jewish War Veterans, pictured before the White House as Marvin H. McIntyre (hatless), secretary to President Roosevelt, received the petition from J. George Fredman (right), Commander-in-Chief of the organization.

Pekin, who defeated the veteran William Ed Hull in the last election.

Dirksen, who during his campaign won the sobriquet of "the baker and delivery boy" because of his habit of making deliveries of bread himself from his bakery during rush hours, always gets "a hand" when he speaks.

LAUGHS TOO—

He speaks with a deliberate and earnest drawl that is pleasing to hear.

He told five anecdotes in his maiden speech which lasted only our minutes. Each brought howls of laughter.

There is little cockiness about him. He admits that it all is very strange to him, and that he has a lot to learn, and that he is trying to learn it.

Howlett of Chicago, state Secretary of the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Horner announced that W. C. Jones of Streator would continue as chairman of the Board for the time being. Other members which were not replaced were Albert B. George, Col. Wm. E. Buchler and Rev. R. Keene Ryan, all of Chicago.

To the Court of Claims, the Gov. appointed James Vause, Jr., of Mattoon, C. H. Linscott of Rockford and Judge C. N. Hollerich of Spring Valley.

Pupils Strike To Get Teachers' Pay

Chicago, April 5 —(AP)—Protesting against their teachers' unpaid salaries, thousands of Chicago high school students walked out on strike from their classrooms today.

At Englewood high school the changing of a fire alarm signalized a general exodus from the building. Forty-five hundred students left their rooms and paraded through the rain, waving banners protesting the pedagogues' financial plight.

In defiance of school authorities' pleas and warnings against the futility of such moves, 4500 pupils of Calumet high school and 6,000 from Crane Junior College and high school left their desks. Police squads summoned by the school officials were unable to turn them back.

REHEARING DENIED

Springfield, Ill., April 5 —(AP)—Rehearing was denied today by the Supreme Court in the appeal of the Wedron Silica Company from damages granted in LaSalle county Circuit Court to two workmen who acquired silicosis, an occupational disease.

Bits Of News From Company A At State Capital

By Sgt. Wolfe and Corp. Ketchin
Springfield, Tuesday — We received our daily papers today and found that our article was published, so have decided to write another one.

Met Long, First Battalion Commander, who was in charge of all troops in Springfield has been transferred to Taylorville, leaving Capt. Sherwood Dixon in complete charge. This means that Capt. Dixon, together with Lt. Wimpelberg and Lt. Austin are kept quite busy with the affairs of the troops quartered here.

Once more the boys are thankful for Capt. Dixon's generosity, as he has arranged for quite a complete set of indoor athletic equipment. Corp. Wood and Julian will be the instructors as they are the athlete's of the company.

A few of the boys were able to enjoy the privilege of going over to the State Legislature last week with Capt. Dixon. It is expected that a few more will be able to go this week. The biggest attraction is a member from the home town, Rep. Devine.

Sgt. Arthur Handell is enjoying himself very much Sunday, while on an educational tour at the State Museum he spent most of his time looking at the art exhibit.

Lt. Austin was responsible for all the boys being able to see Lincoln's Tomb and Home and points of interest concerning the life and works of the Great Emancipator. This tour was of special interest to the high school boys as it will help them in Miss Scott's history class.

Roy Meyer, an old member of the company has appointed himself the official gas bomb tosser. We are sure that he is a good one as he is sincere in the making of them and the way to use them.

Sgt. Malcolm Brown through long practice has become very proficient as a bayonet instructor, and is pressed into service each drill period.

Sgts. Hefley, Ramsey and Wolfe are likewise used as instructors. Sgt. Hefley as gas instructor; Sgt. Ramsey as close order instructor; Sgt. Wolfe as extended order instructor.

Lt. Wimpelberg's wife and two children were visitors here Sunday.

They enjoyed the day as did the boys by going around visiting the points of interest.

Willard Jones was a visitor here today. He is attending a meeting of morticians to see how to collect the Illinois state sales tax.

A few of the boys are sorry they are not home to attend Grady T. Cantrell's services. They don't have any money, so we think this is the best place for them.

Pvt. Howe and Murphy were sent to Elgin and Joliet to move their companies to Taylorville. They left Saturday morning and returned Sunday afternoon.

The Mess Sgt. and two cooks thought, when they found out we were going to eat in a restaurant down here, that they would have nothing to do. They found out different as rifle and equipment were issued to Sgt. Adams, Pvt. Howe and Pvt. Stafford. They refuse to state whether or not they like the regular service.

Pvt. Harry Dockery thought he was coming down here to fight, but was disappointed, as he is detailed at the garage to take care of the trucks and squad cars. Harry says that it is the same as being at home, only he doesn't have to pay room and board.

Sgt. Peterson was detailed to take two guards to dinner the other day. After being absent for more than an hour, Sgt. Handell left to see what had happened to them. A little while later the four soldiers returned and the explanation by Sgt. Handell was that Sgt. Peterson and the two guards were like "old women." Stopping to look at all the windows and reading all the signs.

COMPTON NEWS

By LESLIE G. ARCHER

COMPTON—Harry Brewer after serving the C. B. & Q. railroad as section foreman here for the past twelve years, has been removed to take charge of the section at Amboy. This part of the track has been absorbed by the foreman and his crew at Paw Paw. Mr. Brewer will continue to make his home, north of town, and drive to Amboy to his work each day.

Many friends of Peter Los, bid him goodby Monday, when he left his quarters at the Hotel Grand here, to board a train at Mendota, for his departure to his home in Zwyzendrecht, Holland. Mr. Los has worked here for the past several years, mostly on the farm, and due to his ill health, decided to leave for his home, where his mother and father and others are engaged in truck farming.

Miss Dorothy J. Gilmore is spending the next few days at her home here, enjoying spring vacation from her studies at Cornell College, at Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

Late this week a meeting of the Community baseball league will be held at Rochelle, the Compton club known as the "Oilers" will send several representatives to the meeting headed by Arthur Chaon, secretary-treasurer of the club last year. The league comprises teams from Earlville, Rochelle, Creston, Steward, Lee, Scarboro, Paw Paw and Compton.

Collection of the sales tax, seems to be of little worry to local merchants here, with nearly every one using the bracket system, makes the matter less complicated as in other schemes devised by business places in other adjoining towns and cities. The Chaon general store here, has adopted the popular system, of absorbing the tax on any ten cent sale, with a cent on every sale from eleven cents up, to thirty three cents and so on.

The entertainment committee of the Juantia chapter of the Eastern Star are holding a card party and dance at the Masonic hall on Friday evening of April 7th. Bunco and five hundred will be played starting at 7:30 promptly, followed by dancing, later in the evening. A picnic lunch will be served. All members of the order, Masons, and families and friends are cordially invited to attend.

School elections for the various districts will be held on Saturday April 8. Polls for the local district No. 128 will open at 7:30, and close at 9:30, at the local high school building. The term of Dr. C. G. Pool, who has served the local board for the past twelve years as president, will expire this year. As a capable member of the board of directors, Dr. Pool's judgment was, during his long tenure of office, responsible in a large part for putting the Compton high and grade school on a par with the others in the state.

Hopes of rescue blighted Lieutenant Commander J. E. Whitbeck, commander of the Coast Guard destroyer, Tucker, is seen here as he returned to Brooklyn, N. Y., Navy Yard with three survivors and a victim of the Akron disaster.

Off On a Daring But Vain Venture

Dr. Frank Hughes, U. S. Public Health Service officer attached to the Coast Guard at Cape May, N. J., is shown at left as he received weather information from W. H. Willis, boatswain's mate, just before starting a flight to sea to search for survivors of the lost dirigible Akron.

These Little Planes Are Orphans of the Ill-Fated U. S. S. Akron

They were designed to be carried within the envelope of the huge dirigible. This picture shows them on the beach at Barnegat City, N. J., as mechanics and pilots hastily prepared for an early morning take-off to search the sea for wreckage of the mother ship. Note the hook contrivance on top of each plane, which allowed the small craft, while in flight, to attach themselves to the dirigible and be drawn into the interior. The Akron was equipped to carry five planes.

APPEAL DISMISSED

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 5 — (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court today dismissed the appeal of A. E. Sizer, Champaign County Collector, from a ruling that three Masonic lodges were exempt from property taxes.

County Judge Thomas J. Kastel of Platt county had upheld the contention that the Western Star lodge No. 240, A. F. & A. M., Champaign Chapter No. 50 Royal Arch Masons and Champaign Commandery No. 68 Knights Templars are charitable, beneficial institutions and thus untaxable.

The county had failed to perfect its appeal, which was dismissed.

Gang Victim Was Found On Highway

Chicago, April 5 — (AP)—A man believed by police to have been the victim of a gangster "ride" died several hours after he was found today with three bullet wounds along a road in suburban Niles.

Police tentatively identified him from cards found in his pockets as William Jordan. A union card also was found indicating his name might be "Ruzrich," police said.

The victim was found by Charles Rolla, a farmer, who told police he had heard shots a short time before. The man was taken to a hospital where he died without regaining consciousness.

It is your duty to carry Accident Insurance. If you use an automobile you can protect your family to the amount of $1,000 for 1 year for $1.25.

T. A. Grehan, Advertisement Manager of the Dublin (Ireland) Independent Newspapers, Ltd. Says:

"Did you ever stop to think" is a very forgotten question in this era of speed. Yet it is a very wise question, and what makes it all the wiser is the amount of deep common sense behind it. How many homes have been wrecked, careers blasted, lives wasted by those who didn't stop to think?

"You look into the lives of people you know who have done well domestically, socially and financially. Believe me, you will find such people spend a good deal of their time 'stopping to think'."

"Here is an attractive plan that every reader of this newspaper can try out tonight. It is this: Just before you retire and when all alone, quietly review your whole day's 'history.' What did you do? Who did you meet? What did you see? What did you read about? Then having carefully gone through the day, 'stop to think' for a few minutes as to just what impressions it has left on your mind. Was it a good day, a bad day, or just like every other day? Did you run up against anything, or anyone likely to make it a sort of unpleasant experience?"

"Take it from me, you'll find this world not at all a bad old spot if you 'stop to think' now and again."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and mawkish and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes, your head aches it comes to making the bile flow freely. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. See at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

RESURRECTION

Reprinted by the Special Permission of Time
From the April 3, 1933, Issue of Time.

Centuries ago the dead were sometimes resurrected. Last week U. S. businessmen, inexperienced in resurrection, were trying to forecast the nature of a dead industry about to be brought to life. Millions of dollars of profits depended on correctly gauging the size, the requirements, the effects upon their own concerns of the resurrected brewing industry. Basic criterion, to be modified by current conditions, were facts about the beer industry before it died thirteen years ago:

It brewed 60 million 31-gallon barrels of beer a year.

It employed (1914) 77,300 people in brewing and malting, about 16,000 makers of barrels, bottles, caps, labels, etc., etc.

It consumed (1914-1916 average) about 42,000,000 pounds of hops; 50,000,000 bu. of barley; 18,000,000 bu. of corn.

It had invested (1914) about $800,000,000 in plant and equipment.

A large part of this old equipment has been scrapped, is obsolete, ruined by time and neglect or converted to other uses. Last year only 2,700,000 barrels of ½ per cent were sold. The Treasury in planning on beer taxes estimated the production capacity of the U. S. today at 20 to 30 million barrels a year. On the assumption that 30 million barrels of beer will be made in the next twelve months, the requirements of the brewing industry in labor and raw materials ought to be about half what it was formerly:

38,000 employees in brewing and malting, less about 7,000 now so employed or a net increase of 31,000 in employment.

21,000,000 pounds of hops* (80 per cent of the 1932 crop), 30,000,000 bu. of barley (10 per cent of the 1932 crop) and 10,000 bu. of corn (about ¼ per cent of the 1932 crop). But home brew, illegal brew, and ½ per cent beer is already using part of these amounts. About 6,000 pounds of hops were used for other than brewing in pre-Prohibition days. Assuming that this amount still holds, then the beer business may be said to be already operating at about 45 per cent of its pre-Prohibition capacity. If it is going to operate at 50 per cent the demand for raw materials for brewing should increase only about 10 per cent over last year: 2,000,000 pounds more hops, 3,000,000 bu. more barley, 800,000 bu. more corn. Hardly a pinch in a peck of U. S. Grain production. The big new grain consumption will come only after beer production exceeds 30,000,444 bbl. a year.

But no statisticians last week could throw cold water on the fact that an $800,000,000 industry will have to be largely rebuilt. While increased grain consumption may lag till the beer business gets back into stride, during that time the rebuilding and re-equipment is going to be at its best. Last week F. W. Dodge Corp., trusted reporters on the building trades, set forth that $58,000,000 will be spent on breweries during the next four months in 37 states east of the Rockies.

probably $65,000,000 in the nation.

This is for building and remodeling. George J. Meyer Manufacturing Co. of Cudahy, Wis., last week had on its books $1,360,000 of unfilled orders for bottled machinery and George J. Meyer himself wrote out and mailed a $5,000 check to the Democratic National Committee congratulating it because "at least one political party kept its pre-election campaign promise."

Lumber prices in Chicago were reported up 10 per cent to 20 per cent on requirements for beer barrels and cases for bottled capacity.

Liquid Carbonic Corp., makers of brewing machinery, estimated that 5,000 carloads of machinery would be required.

General American Tank Car Corp. last week announced contracts to furnish refrigerator cars to Schlitz, Pabst, Blatz, Miller (Milwaukee), Schoenhofen and Prima (Chicago), Goets (St. Joseph, Mo.); had already reconditioned 500 of its 20,000 refrigerator cars for beer and expected to need 2,000 for the beer trade (in pre-Prohibition days Milwaukee shipped 43,000 carloads of beer a year.) General Tank likewise laid plans for special tank cars similar to 300 once used to ship California wine.

The outlay for beer trucks was estimated to reach $12,000,000, affecting many automobile accessory makers including the makers of storage batteries since many beer trucks will probably be electric.

Brewers were last week picking advertising agents, planning advertising campaigns. National appropriations were estimated at $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Makers of cork and other forms of heat insulation of brewery vats. General Motors announced that the Frigidaire plants at Dayton had jumped from three to six-day-a-week production, had in the last month spent $1,100,000 for new plant equipment. Reason: daily production of 300 units for cooling draft beer and new home refrigerators with space for a full case of beer.

These items enter into the rehabilitation of the beer manufacturing industry but do not include large secondary effects from beer retailing. Hotels and restaurants have reason to expect increased income with beer sales. Other drinking places must be built and remodelled. All must have new equipment. Items for which demand was last week reported high:

Beer glasses and mugs, mirrors, linen, uniforms for barkeepers and barmaids, cabinet work including paneling for bars, murals, mosaic and composition floorings; also sausage, pretzels, pickles.

*Grown principally on the Pacific Coast and in upper New York State.

The best brewing barley is grown mostly in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Montana, California.

A BOOK A DAY

A PLEA FOR SHORT HOURS
By Bruce Catton

"Balanced Employment," by Lee Sherman Chadwick, is an interesting discussion of the unemployment problem; and a good part of its interest rises from the fact that its author is not an economist or a political scientist, but an every-day, unadorned business man—evidently one of the hard-boiled variety.

American prosperity, he says bluntly, stands or falls on the prosper-perity of the wage earner. In sheer self-interest, business men must see to it that every man who wants a job can always get one. And he remarks:

"I cannot in the least understand the workings of the minds of our great industrial leaders. They make their entire wealth out of the labors of our wage earners, but in spite of that they will not do one single thing to spread or improve the buying and earning power of these people. What in the name of all that is holy is wrong with these shortsighted selfish leaders?"

As a remedy, he urges business to adopt, voluntarily, the short work week; a 30-hour week if necessary, a 25-hour or even a 20-hour week if it seems advisable. When a depression comes, he says, let every factory keep every man on the job and cut the hours of work to a minimum. In that way every worker is always earning something, however little. Fear of unemployment, the great breeder of panic, is ended and hoarding is abolished.

Mr. Chadwick is a bit of a Bourbon in his insistence that this reform be entrusted to business rather than to the government; but his book is a stimulating example of the way a business man can think along radical lines.

BY DON HILLIKER

The students of the civics classes of the Dixon high school are interested in a project whereby the student body will be organized into a civic body comprising a city operating under the commission form of government.

The purpose of this project is to educate the students about the features and characteristics of the municipal government and to give the members of the civics classes practical experience in conducting campaigns and elections. Through the cooperation of the city officials the elected and appointed officials are allowed to govern the city by proxy for one day concluding the program by taking the regular seats in the council room at the city hall, transacting the business of the municipality for one day and as a final act holding a council meeting which is open to the public.

In order to carry on this project the support of the student body is necessary. The work is to be carried on by the civics students through the home rooms in the following manner:

I. Officials necessary under commission form of city government:

- (a) Elected officials
 - Mayor
 - Four commissioners
 - Police magistrates
- (b) Appointed officials
 - City clerk
 - City treasurer
 - City attorney
 - City engineer
 - Chief of police
 - Chief of fire department
 - Health officer
 - Members of boards

II. Participants

- (a) Members of the civics classes are eligible for office.
- (b) All students of the high school are qualified voters.
- (c) The home room groups constitute the precincts of the Junior City.

III. Steps to be pursued:

- (a) Filing of petitions. Candidates seeking positions must file their petitions with their civics instructor not later than 4:00 o'clock P. M. April 10, 1933. (They may be secured after the home room period April 6, 1933.)
- (b) In order to file a petition a candidate must secure the signature of twenty-five

In such camps as that shown above, some of America's unemployed will soon be finding their chance to work. The barrack-like structures, reminiscent of wooden cantonments of World War days, are at Klock, Ont., part of the Canadian government's project for building a great trans-Canada highway with the help of unemployed single men whom it pays 20 cents a day plus board and lodging. The men shown at right are among the 3000 formerly unemployed men working at a grading project for the Canadian government. These pictures give some idea of conditions under a plan much like that which President Roosevelt has just approved for reforestation work in the United States.

- (25) bona fide voters.
- (c) Any number of students may file their petitions for mayor, commissioners or for police magistrate.
- (d) Friday following the final date set for filing petitions the primary election will be held. (April fourteenth).
1. The two leading in the race for positions of mayor and police magistrate will be nominated for these positions.
2. The eight leading in the race for positions on the council will be nominated.
- (e) The Friday following the primaries (April 21st) the regular election will be held at which time the mayor and four commissioners will be elected.

IV. Members of the civics classes will conduct all elections in the home rooms. A judge and two clerks will be assigned for each precinct. The supervision of the home room teacher will be necessary to supervise the final counting of the vote.

V. The seniors realize that this project presents not only an opportunity but a challenge as well. An opportunity to study first hand the operation of city government, a challenge to prove to those in authority that students are capable of understanding and doing their part in this project.

The project was successfully carried out last year when members of the class of 32 ruled the city for a day and conducted a regular council meeting in the evening.

Everyday Religion

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

An English friend writes me: "America without money is bad enough, but America without humor is ghastly. If you are hard hit take it on the chin, as we have been doing for a long time, and smile. We cannot laugh it off, but if we lose our laugh we may go off in the head. Cheer up; take every jolt as a joke."

It is good advice, and we must not forget it. The English never lost their cheerfulness, even in the worst days in the World War, though it did wear them at times. To be sure, our present plight is worse than war. For many it is a grim, hard, hand-to-hand fight against starvation and despair. No matter, if we lose our smile we are lost.

It makes one think of a scene in the life of Lincoln, in the darkest days of the Civil War. The President called a meeting of his Cabinet, saying that grave matters were to be dealt with. When his advisors gathered he entered the room and glanced swiftly at the circle of anxious faces. Then he quietly picked up a book by Artemus Ward and began to read one of its most rollicking and uproarious chapters.

By the time the President had finished reading the chapter, the indignation of his Cabinet was plain enough. What did he mean, they thought, by bringing busy men together at such a critical time to hear a funny story? Finally Lincoln laid down the book and sighed deeply, and looked at his friends, knowing what they felt as well as they did.

"Gentlemen," he said, "why don't you laugh? With the fearful strain that is on me night and day I should die if I did not laugh occasionally. You need this medicine as much as I." For the same reason he told funny stories—of which he was a retailer, not a manufacturer, he said—to lighten the load and sweeten the air.

Then, said Stanton later, Lincoln turned to his tall hat on the table and took out "a little white paper." It was the first draft of the Emancipation Proclamation. He embodied the tragedy of his country, but he did not lose his laugh, and its healing echoes haunt us to this day.

INFLAMED VEINS

Inflammation of the veins, or phlebitis (from the Greek phleps, meaning vein, and itis, indicating inflammation), is a disease almost entirely limited to the lower extremities.

In varicose veins the pressure and blood stagnation are even more marked than in the normal veins, and hence they are particularly likely to develop phlebitis.

Phlebitis is a frequent complication of conditions which necessitate keeping the patient in bed for long periods. Listed among such cases are the puerperium or childbirth, the periods of convalescence following operation, fractures of the lower limbs and medical cases which require prolonged bed care.

Phlebitis may also develop in certain individuals who are not bedridden. During pregnancy there may be pressure on certain of the large veins with the production of blood stasis and phlebitis. Injury to the leg or to a superficial vein, infections of the leg and certain specific diseases may also give rise to phlebitis.

With these facts in mind a good deal of prophylactic or preventive nature may be done to safeguard individuals, particularly those who are bedridden, against the development of phlebitis.

The general rule is to avoid keeping the patient too long in one position. Sleeping on the side at night, when the condition of the patient permits it, is desirable.

Deep breathing and mild exercises are desirable in patients in whom there are no contra-indications.

Patients who have varicose veins and who must remain in bed for a length of time should have their veins compressed by an elastic bandage.

The sitting position of the patient in bed is of some importance in the prevention of phlebitis. A firm support for the back and a single wedge-shaped pillow to extend from the back along the thighs coming short of the knee are preferable.

Davenport Held On Kidnap Charge

Davenport, Iowa, April 5—(AP)—Victor Ciesielski, better known here as Heinie Lee, and former associate of Mike Talarico, was in the county jail today as one of the group indicted recently in Peoria Federal District court in connection with the kidnapping of Fred DeFilippi of Spring Valley and Adhemar Hughe of East Moline.

Arrested last night by police at the request of U. S. Marshal Fred S. Hird of Des Moines, Lee was arraigned today before Commissioner Albert F. Block, who fixed temporary bonds at $25,000, in accordance with orders of Judge Louis Litzhenry of Peoria. He pleaded not guilty. Unless he furnishes the bond he will be held in jail here until next Friday when he will probably be removed to Peoria for preliminary hearing.

MINOR LEAGUES ANTICIPATING BETTER SEASON

Better Ball Is Probable In Smaller Loops This Summer

New York, Apr. 6.—(AP)—Minor league baseball, which absorbed its full share of the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune in the past year or so, appears to be going through a definite revival this spring.

Concerted efforts have been made all through the country, with the backing of the major leagues, to bring back the minors. There have been several setbacks in this program but in the middle Atlantic states and in the south especially the situation is very hopeful.

The New York Pennsylvania league and the Mid-Atlantic circuit have blossomed out as faster circuits and with the break-up of the Central League the Mid-Atlantic has found itself with more prospective members than it can handle.

Where some of the clubs failed to last through the season a year ago, in organization meeting Tuesday definitely settled on four West Virginia cities, three in Ohio and one in Pennsylvania to form an eight-club circuit. Clarksburg, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md., which had withdrawn from the league, threatened legal action because they were denied re-admission. Fort Wayne, Ind., a former Central League city, also wanted to join.

The members are Wheeling, Huntington, Charleston and Beckley, W. Va.; Johnstown, Pa., and Springfield, Zanesville and Dayton, Ohio.

The New York-Penn League boosted its classification from B to A in order to give its fans a better brand of baseball and shifted one franchise from Hazleton to Reading a former International League city.

Down in the south the Piedmont League also has improved its standing a bit with the admission of Richmond, which failed to get along in the Eastern League when most of the other cities were in New England.

A new Dixie League also was formed with teams in Baton Rouge and Shreveport, La.; Jackson, Miss.; Eldorado, Ark., and Tyler, Longview Henderson and Waco, Texas.

Efforts to revive the old South Atlantic League fizzled badly and an attempt to bring back the Eastern League as a New England circuit were deferred for a year. New England, however, will get some baseball in a league among the smaller cities which has just been formed.

The big change in southwestern baseball was made some months ago when the Texas League took over Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Okla., from the Western League, a move which undoubtedly gave the Texas circuit a strong lineup. Despite this loss and Omaha's franchise difficulties, President Dale Gear has announced the Western League "positively will operate" this year. The probable membership is Omaha, Denver, Pueblo, Colo., Des Moines, Ia., Wichita, Kan., and St. Joseph, Mo.

Weather Delaying Spring Farm Work

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—(AP)—Heavy rains and wet ground have delayed field work of Illinois farmers, the weekly report of the Weather Bureau here said today. Precipitation for the week ending yesterday ranged from one to more than three inches.

"Spring wheat, meadows and pastures were improved by the rains, but their condition is still variable," the report said. "The backwardness of spring work became more pronounced, rainy weather and wet ground having caused continued delay in farming operations. "Spring wheat is sprouting in localities of the northern division. Lowlands are flooded in the Ohio valley, and there was overflowing of small streams and creeks in some other parts of the state."

LUTHERANS IN GERMANY FEAR HITLER'S PLAN

Protest Nazis' Scheme For The Unification Of All Churches

Berlin, April 6.—(AP)—Disturbed by a National Socialist movement to reorganize the Lutheran church structure, "coordinating" it with the principles of Nazism, the Supreme Council of the Evangelical church today reminded Chancellor Hitler of his promise not to touch the country's independent churches.

The promise, said members of the council, was made in the speech with which the Chancellor opened the Reichstag on March 23. A convention of protestant Nazis last night adopted resolutions declaring that the protestant churches must "heed the call" of the new order, and suggested a uniform church in close cooperation with the government.

They demanded, among other things, the removal of such well known theologians as Otto Doebelis, Wilhelm Doehring and Georg Burghard.

The Monarchist newspaper Kreuz Zeitung today raised the question as to whether the Roman Catholic churches also would be affected by the proposed unification.

Points To U. S. Hitler pointed to the United States exclusion act against the yellow race as a precedent in explaining today his purpose in removing Jewish intellectuals from medical, legal, artistic and scientific positions in Germany.

"The American people were the first to draw the practical political consequences from the inequality in the difference of races," he said. "Through immigration laws it barred undesirable from other races. Nor is America ready now to open its doors to Jews (fleeing) from Germany."

To this reference to emigrating Jews, Hitler added the usual Nazi assertion that no physical harm whatever was done them.

He also expressed the opinion that the United States, which before other modern countries became an exponent of a strong movement against foreign elements, has the least occasion to attempt to counteract Germany's efforts to purge herself of foreign elements.

Hitler's remarks were occasioned by his visit to the new Jew-free executive board of the German Medical Federation.

Top score for safe flying in the U. S. Navy during 1932 was attained by Marine Fighting Plane Squadron 10-M. This squadron was presented with the Herbert Schiff Memorial trophy award.

PRAYER GREAT NEED OF HOUR, SAYS CANTRELL

Evangelist Says Prayer Governs Attitude Of Heart

An interested crowd of people braved the rain last night to hear Rev. Grady Cantrell's sermon upon "The Greatest Need in America." This need, he believes, is prayer, since prayer governs the attitude of the heart.

The attendance at these services has been remarkable in face of the inclement weather that has prevailed since they opened, March 26. The estimated attendance so far, according to Rev. W. W. Marshall, chairman of the Campaign Committee, is 14,550.

Rev. Cantrell will preach tonight upon "How to Get Power." Tomorrow evening he will preach upon the "Amusement Problem." All children of the city between the ages of six and sixteen are invited to come to the Children's meeting at the tabernacle at 4:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. This meeting will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKee. The children will furnish the choir on Saturday night which will be family night. A nice Bible will be presented to the largest family present Saturday night. There will be two services Sunday—afternoon and evening.

The woman's meeting at the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon was well attended in spite of the rain. Over two hundred women gathered to hear the address by Mrs. McKee. She is a speaker of unusual ability and the ladies were greatly pleased with her address.

Mrs. McKee will have charge of the young people's meeting at the First Christian church this evening at 6:45. These meetings are growing in attendance and interest. All young people are cordially invited. The service will be brief and dismissed in time for all to get to the service at the tabernacle on time.

There will be a special prayer service at 7:00 this evening in the Upper Room of the Tabernacle.

A delegation from Rockford will be present at the service tonight.

Prayer The greatest need of the world is prayer. If we would pray in America as we should, we could turn our battleships into automobiles and our cannon into excursion boats. There would be no war. To pray and pray right is to put God first.

Teach Us to Pray "Jesus' disciples came to Him one day and said, 'Master, teach us to pray.' That is what we need now. We have to learn how. We must learn how to pray acceptably. It is useless to pray contrary to God's will. Christ teaches us how to pray. And when we pray as he teaches we can always be sure of an answer."

"Does God always answer prayer? Yes, but he sometimes says, 'No.' If your two-year-old boy asked you for the razor you would answer 'no.' But you would answer his prayer. If God granted some of our prayers, we would be destroyed by receiving what we asked for."

Forgiveness "Don't forget the name of Jesus to a prayer. Unless that prayer is in harmony with His teachings and will, it is useless to say that you ask it in Jesus' name. Don't think that you are going to be forgiven just because you ask. Jesus said that you should forgive as you pray and that if you would not forgive others their sins against you, your Heavenly Father would not forgive you."

Providence Spring As a modern miracle, Rev. Cantrell cited the wonderful spring that came in answer to prayer in Andersonville prison in 1865. He JANET HILL breaks her engagement to ROLF CARLYLE when she learns he has been paying attention to BETTY KENDALL, wealthy society girl. Janet, 23, is secretary to HILCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine. She still loves Rolf.

Rolf and Betty, young engineer, save her purse from a holdup man and she and Rolf become friends. When she learns Rolf has been paying attention to Betty, Janet breaks her engagement and says she can never care for anyone else. Hamilton leaves the magazine and secures a job for Janet as a secretary to his sister, Mrs. CURTIS. It is several days before Janet learns Mrs. Curtis is Betty Kendall's mother.

Rolf and Betty return from their honeymoon. Janet feels she should go away but circumstances prevent. The young couple move into their own apartment and, after one encounter, Janet seldom sees Rolf.

She goes for a drive with Jeff and he admits he cares for a girl who is in love with Rolf. Janet concludes the girl is DOLORES CALAHAN, stenographer in the office where he works. Mrs. Curtis decides to go to Silver Bay, a lake resort, taking Janet with her. Betty comes to the station to see them off. She leaves, saying she has an engagement with Rolf but Janet sees her with VAN HANXING.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVII

SILVER BAY was Janet's first introduction to a summer resort. It was, as Mrs. Curtis had said, a "quiet" place but to Janet it seemed impressive. The two hotels facing the beach were built with huge verandas looking out over the lake. Two dozen or more cottages were scattered about and farther back were narrow streets, lined with shops that did little business except during the summer months.

Most of the activity of the place centered about the beach and the landing where lake boats stopped whenever there were passengers. Fishing craft set out each morning and speed boats cut their way through the water, trailing spray. The water was deep and rather cold but swimmers braved it. The more indolent were content to sun themselves, lying on the sands, or viewing the water sports from the high walk leading to the hotels.

Mrs. Curtis had been coming to the Lake Shore Hotel for years. On the day that she and Janet arrived she spent half an hour chatting with old acquaintances before she could get in to lunch. An hour later a bridge game was in progress on the veranda. The same bridge game, with now and then an occasional substitute for one of the players, was to continue as long as Mrs. Curtis remained at Silver Bay.

The days drifted into an easy pattern. It was cool at Silver Bay. Even when the sun shone down brightly—as it usually did—the breeze from the water was cool. Janet had little to do. Each morning she went to the beach for a brief swim and then 10 minutes on the sands. The rest of the morning she spent with Mrs. Curtis, reading to her, answering her letters, sending dresses to be pressed and making appointments for manicures and facial massages. Though the hotel was so "quiet" it was a rather dressy place and the routine of dressing for luncheon and then again for dinner was unalterably observed.

On sunny days Mrs. Curtis and her friends had their afternoon bridge game on the veranda. When it rained they moved inside to one of the parlors but nothing, except the recurrent arrival of Sunday, interrupted this program. Janet usually sat near-by with a magazine or book.

THERE were plenty of young people at Silver Bay. Some of them spent their days on the water and became brown as Indians. Others played golf, rode horseback or went spinning over the roads in long, low motor cars. Janet saw them, girls in sleeveless, low cut frocks and young men in flannels. She saw them laughing and smoking and apparently having very gay times together but she did not speak to any of them. These girls and young men were from Betty Carlyle's world. Janet did not need to be reminded that there was a vast difference between them and herself. Her visit at Silver Bay was a vacation and yet it was not a vacation. She sat beside Mrs. Curtis and her middle-aged acquaintances and looked on at the never-ending bridge.

There was always dancing at the Lake Shore in the evening. Sometimes a young man would manage an introduction and ask Janet to dance. Usually she refused and on the occasions when she did not she regretted it later. The young men were so obviously flirtatious that they were not even amusing.

Dancing made her think of Rolf and evenings they had spent together. Rolf danced divinely. Circling a floor in his arms, steps matching perfectly, was like floating on air.

She always caught herself up abruptly when her thoughts went on like this. That scene in the library came back to her. The gray dusk and Rolf appearing almost as in a dream. She could hear him saying, "You look beautiful!" and she could feel again the warm, bewildering sensation that had overtaken her. She had tried to run away—oh, yes she had tried! But if Betty had not appeared just then what might have happened?

Janet always refused to answer that question. "Nothing would have happened!" she would answer herself vigorously. "Nothing!"

But it wasn't true. She was very much afraid that something would have happened. There was something really fearful for her to confront these days. She had found that she couldn't trust herself. Here at Silver Bay with everything quiet and peaceful it was easy enough to say that she had put Rolf out of her mind. Perhaps not completely but each day he meant less. Yes, she was forgetting about him.

That wasn't true either. Otherwise why was it necessary so many times during the day to say to herself, "I've forgotten about him."

ASIDE from Mrs. Curtis' friends the only acquaintances Janet made at Silver Bay were some children she met each morning on the beach. Their mothers knew Mrs. Curtis. They seemed grateful when Janet told the youngsters about her, kept them stories and kept them busy at games. Janet really enjoyed the children and she was a favorite with them. She sent a card to Jeff Grant and received a letter a few days later. Due to a change in office policies, Jeff wrote, there was no vacation in sight for him. He had spent another week-end at the home of his friend, Nelson. Lancaster had cooled and then become hot again. The letter was rather disappointing. It was brief. A few statements of facts, closing with the hope that Janet was enjoying herself. There was no chatty gossip.

She re-read the letter, looked at it a few moments and then laughed. How exactly like Jeff that letter was! Of course there was no gossip, nothing about what Jeff had been thinking or feeling. Of course not! But the letter had been written the day he had received her card. That was characteristic, too. Jeff was always punctual. He wouldn't write about himself because he so seldom talked about himself.

She sent cards to Mollie Lambert and Pauline Hayden and one or two others. Mollie's answer was an announcement of her marriage the week before. The wedding had taken place at Mollie's sister's home in a little town outside Lancaster.

Standing alone on the hotel veranda one night, looking out at the lake, Janet thought that of all those she knew Mollie was the one surest of happiness. She and her Al would get along. They would have their quarrels, as Mollie said, but afterward they would make up and be happier than before. Yes, they would be happy.

The breeze rustled Janet's skirt and blew her hair back against her face. Silver Bay in the moonlight was really silver. Far out on the water lights twinkled and music came from within the hotel. For an instant the beauty of the night swept everything else from Janet's thoughts.

Then she heard Mrs. Curtis' voice and turned quickly. She said, "Your coat? Yes, Mrs. Curtis, I'll get it right away."

THEY had come to Silver Bay for two weeks. At the end of that time Mrs. Curtis decided to spend another week there and at the end of the third week she decided to stay a fourth. The first of September was just two days away when they finally arrived in Lancaster.

Frederick met them with the car. The servants had all been back for several days and the only sign of change about the house was that instead of roses and delphinium in the vases, as when they left, there were asters now and gladioli. The big house was fresh and cool and inviting. Far more attractive, Janet thought, than the hotel. She wondered why Mrs. Curtis had ever wanted to leave it.

Betty dropped in the first afternoon they were back. She wore a new and becoming dress and hat and she talked of parties she had gone to and parties to which she was invited. She spoke of Rolf casually and only after Mrs. Curtis had asked about him. He was working as usual, she said. Betty chattered on for an hour and then hurried off for an engagement.

She came in several times that week but always alone. Janet was unusually busy for letters had accumulated and there were bills to be paid. There were accounts to be gone over and checks sent to the charities in which Mrs. Curtis was interested. Mrs. Curtis was coming to rely on Janet more and more and when anything was wrong in the household it was to Janet that Bertha appealed.

She had errands down town, too. She was walking along Center street one afternoon when suddenly she was aware of a figure beside her. Janet looked up. Rolf Carlyle swung into step with her.

He said, "Hello, Janet. Guess I'm in luck for once." "In luck?" "Yes, I heard you were back, and I've been wanting to see you." He put a hand on her arm. "You're coming along with me." (To Be Continued)

TRUST FUNDS
 $14,394,698.88

FOURTEEN MILLION THREE HUNDRED NINETY FOUR THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED NINETY EIGHT AND 88/100 DOLLARS

One of the largest, if not the largest check ever drawn is this one for $14,394,698.88, representing the inheritance tax on the $115,000,000 estate of the late Dr. John T. Dorrance, soup magnate. It was paid to state authorities at Harrisburg, Pa.

dramatically sketched the situation in that terrible prison camp of the Civil War and how that wonderful spring came bubbling forth in answer to the earnest prayer of thousands of perishing soldiers who wore the blue. He gave a graphic portrayal of the scene as then happening and then told of his recent visit to the place and described its appearance today.

His discourse closed with a vivid description of Floyd Collins, the strong young mountaineer, who told his mother on her deathbed that he did not need Jesus, but who prayed fervently, but in vain, when caught in the passage of the Kentucky cave where he perished.

Arthur McKee brought the service to a fitting close in his solo "Unanswered Yet," which he sang very effectively upon the close of the sermon.

The first cast iron bridge ever made is still in use in the Severn valley, England. It was cast in 1779, and is a toll bridge.

"Prince Michael" Gets Three Months

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Harry F. Gerguson, who has travelled past many immigration barriers as "Prince Michael Romanoff," was sentenced today to three months imprisonment on his plea of guilty to perjury, evading immigration officers and reentering the country after being deported.

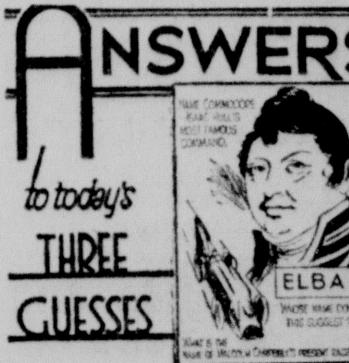

The sentence, which will be served in the Federal House of Detention, was pronounced on the plea of guilty to a nine-count indictment charging perjury.

The court suspended sentence under another indictment, which, in three counts, charged re-entry after deportation and evasion of immigration officers. The term of court was extended for three years for the purpose of imposing sentence under this indictment if Gerguson should not behave himself after release.

A penknife weighing 42 pounds and having 1831 blades is the largest ever made. It is valued at more than $7500.
